

P H I L O S O P H I C A L
T R A N S A C T I O N S :

I. A letter from Monsieur N. Witsen to Dr. Martin Lister, S. R. S. with two draughts of the ruins of Persepolis

Monsieur N. Witsen
Phil. Trans. 1694 18, 117-118, published 1 January 1694

Email alerting service    Receive free email alerts when new articles cite this article - sign up in the box at the top right-hand corner of the article or click here

چیل منار

Tsjihil minar.

PHILOSOPHICAL TRANSACTIONS.

For the Month of May, 1694.

The CONTENTS.

I. A Letter from Monsieur N. Witsen to Dr. Martin Lister, S. R. S. with two Draughts of the Ruins of Persepolis. II. Dr. Gwither's Discourse of Physiognomy, communicated by Mr. Owen Lloyd, Secretary of the Philosophical Society at Dublin. III. A Continuation of Mr. John Clayton's Account of Virginia; giving a short Description of the Beasts and Serpents thereof. IV. Methodus Nova, Accurata & facilis inveniendi Radices Aequationum quarumcumque generaliter, sine prævia Reductione. Per Edm. Halley.

I. A Letter from Monsieur N. Witsen to Dr. Martin Lister, with two Draughts of the Famous Persepolis.

THIS Ingenious and Inquisitive Gentleman having already often obliged the World with Communications of his Discoveries, lately sent the following Letter with the Draughts to Dr. Lister, who was pleased to permit their Publication in these Tracts: The greatness of the Curiosity we hope will recommend them to the Lovers of Antiquity, little of those Famous Remains having been yet publisht, and those that have been, but ill designed or graved. Monsieur Witsen's Letter, translated from the French, is as follows.

S

SIR,

S I R,

Since I had the Honour of receiving your last, there came to my hands several Curious Shells from you, with a piece of English Agate, and the Transactions of the Royal Society for the Month of June last, for which Favours I return my Humble Thanks. As to the Cockles of the Caspian Sea, and from the Mouth of Wolga, I have Advice from Moscou, that they are expected there this Winter: Meanwhile I herewith send you some Snail-Shells, taken out of the River Jaute, not far from the City of Moscou. Our Apothecaries make use of them powdered, and probably for the same purpose as Crabs-Eyes. There are some others likewise which are found in the Rivers of Moscou and Neglina, and in the Wolga. Since you have been pleased to communicate to me an Inscription found at Persepolis, I thought it would be acceptable to send you the Draughts of part of the Ruins of the Stone-work of that Proud Palace, given me by the Person himself that drew them upon the place. I should be much satisfied had I any thing worthy of your Curiosity and the Publick, which you so often Oblige with your Discoveries, which justly merit mine and the Thanks of all that esteem them as much as myself, who am the Cherisher of your Friendship, and desirous to shew that I am,

S I R,

Your most Humble and Obedient Servant,

Amsterdam,
Jan. 1. 1694.

N. Witsen.

---

II. Dr. Gwither's Discourse of Physiognomy. Communicated by Mr. Owen Lloyd, Secretary of the Philosophical Society at Dublin.

Index animi vultus*, is a saying frequent in the Mouth of every Pedant, and every Fortune-telling Charletain pretends to read a Man's Face, as the Astrologer does Heaven's.

All

Engelbert
Kempfer m. D.