The CONTENTS.

Mr. Isaac Newton's Answer to some Considerations upon his Doctrine of Light and Colors, as it was Printed in Numb. 80. of these Treats: In which Answer some things being premised about both the Practique and Theorique part of Opticks; the Author endeavours to make it out, that he assumes no Hypothesis for his Doctrine; that the Examiners and all other Mechanical Hypotheses in their genuine constitution are conformable to his Doctrine; and that it is not necessary to limit or explain his Doctrine by any Hypothesis. To which is added a Resolution of three important Quæres, 1. Whether the Unequal Refractions, made without respect to any inequality of incidence, be caused by the different Refrangibility of several rays; or by the Splitting, Breaking or Dissipating the same Ray into diverging parts? 2. Whether there be more than two Original colours? 3. Whether Whiteness be a mixture of all Colors? Some particulars of this subject recommended to further Consideration. An Accompit of two Books: I. Othonis de Gericke EXPERIMENTA MAGDEBURGICA NOVA, II. Thesaurus MEDICINÆ PRACTICÆ; Studio & operâ Thomaë Burnet. M.D. &c.
